

KARLIN SLOAN & COMPANY

be the change.

Kevin Murnane

Kevin has spent over 25 years developing self-aware and results-oriented global leaders and organizations as an executive coach, business leader, consultant, business developer, entrepreneur and teacher. His first career focused on achieving business results by developing and implementing award winning global marketing and advertising strategies for Fortune 500 firms. He then followed his passion by helping individuals and companies discover and develop leadership talent all over the world. He has developed, sold and delivered programs in ten countries for leaders from fifty different cultures.

Kevin is certified in job analysis, behavioral interviewing, testing design and implementation, 360 surveys, assessment centers and personality instruments. He is also a certified Marshal Goldsmith coach. Kevin helped design and successfully taught the first Leadership Coaching Class at the Kellogg Graduate School of Management. Kevin's unique combination of consultant, coach and teacher at Kellogg allows him to apply practicality and thought leadership to help clients solve real problems and take away sustainable tools to drive their future learning and success. He believes that true change comes from the head and the heart. As a coach, consultant and teacher he believes that compassionate listening is the most important skill.

Areas of Expertise

Performance Management
Succession Management
Assessment and Selection
Action Learning
Competency Development and Modeling
Strategic Development, Management and Execution
Leadership Development (including Training)
Change Management
Quantitative and Qualitative Marketing Research
Marketing and Advertising
Strategic Alliances & Business Development

Honors and Awards

DDI V.I.P 5 out of 7 years, including two-time winner of highest producer in consulting group
Keynote speaker at many events, including Chicago ODN/PN awards

Education & Affiliations

MBA - Kellogg School of Management

Confidential

Copyright © 2010, Karlin Sloan & Company. All rights reserved.

www.karlinsloan.com • 312.242.1801