

KARLIN SLOAN & COMPANY

be the change.

Alison J. Musgrave

Alison specializes in coaching executives and emerging, high potential leaders. Building on an outstanding and adventurous business background, Alison supports her clients to acknowledge their own unique strengths, seek others' perspectives, engage their appreciative eye, and create a plan of action that aligns with their own and their organization's goals.

Alison has held senior positions in both the U.K. and the U.S. for a variety of companies, including Ogilvy and Ziff-Davis in a number of roles: from international sales to the airline industry, client services for marketing agencies, and marketing director and publisher for a European publishing start-up venture, to heading up high-potential teams as a change management leader. Additionally, Alison has a strong expertise in consulting to entrepreneurial leaders in evolving businesses as well as HR and talent management experience.

Passionate about helping clients acknowledge that they have a choice in everything they do, Alison is known for her ability to connect with people, providing clear, calm and wise feedback in a way that opens up possibilities and choices for practicing compelling and effective leadership.

Areas of Expertise

Executive and High-Potential, Emerging Leader Coaching
Team Development
Effective Communication
International Business Experience

Industry/Functional Expertise

Technology
Retail
Publishing
Airline/Transportation
Agency and Client-side Perspective

Education and Affiliations

Professional Mentor - Menttium 100
Volunteer Coach - Chicago Transitions Center
Graduate - Corporate Coach University
MA candidate - DePaul University, School for New Learning
Bachelor of Science - Iowa State University of Science and Technology

Confidential

Copyright © 2010, Karlin Sloan & Company. All rights reserved.

www.karlinsloan.com • 312.242.1801

